Financial Strength Ratings for American General Life Insurance Company and The United States Life Insurance Company in the City of New York

Financial strength ratings are an evaluation by independent ratings agencies of an insurer's ability to meet its obligations to policy holders. The most prominent ratings agencies continue to recognize our companies in terms of financial strength.

Agency	Rating	Definition	As of 06/05/2018
Standard & Poor's	A+ (Strong) ²	Companies rated A have strong financial security characteristics, but are somewhat more likely to be affected by adverse business conditions than are insurers with higher ratings.
Moody's	A2 (Good) ¹	Companies rated A offer good financial security. However, elements may be present that suggest a susceptibility to impairment sometime in the future.
A.M. Best	A (Excellent) ¹	Companies rated A have an excellent ability to meet their ongoing financial obligations to policyholders.
Fitch	A+ (Strong) ²	Companies rated A have low expectations of default risk. The capacity for payment of financial commitments is considered strong. This capacity may, nevertheless, be more vulnerable to adverse business or economic conditions than is the case for higher ratings.

1. Outlook Stable 2. Outlook Negative

Standard & Poor's 21 ratings are a measure of claims-paying ability and range from AAA (Extremely Strong) to R (Regulatory Action). Moody's Investors Service's 21 ratings are a measure of financial security and range from AAA (Exceptional) to C (Extremely Poor). A.M. Best's 15 ratings are a measure for claims-paying ability and range from A++ (Superior) to F (in Liquidation). Fitch Ratings' 21 ratings are a measure of insurer financial strength and range from AAA (Exceptionally Strong) to C (Distressed). Only the fixed account protection features, income payments, and guarantees are backed by the claims-paying ability of the issuing insurance company.

Understanding financial strength ratings

Independent ratings agencies, such as A.M. Best and Standard & Poor's, provide opinions on an organization's ability to meet its financial obligations to its policy holders, creditors and shareholders. Generally there are two components to ratings — a credit rating and a financial strength rating. Credit ratings, or long-term debt ratings, are an evaluation by the ratings agencies of the creditworthiness of an organization and its ability to pay its short- and long-term debt. Financial strength ratings are an evaluation by the ratings agencies of an insurer's ability to meet its obligations to its policy holders.
